

GLAMPING

Once upon a time in the UK, 'camping' meant a tent in a field, and life was very dull. And then a glamorous fairy cast a spell upon all the tents and, because magic is real, you can now have a cosy, comfortable stay in a yurt, pod, tipi, bell-tent, shepherds' hut, safari tent or treehouse – heck, even a hobbit hole – and that's why we love glamping at Cool Places.

Longlands Glamping

Luxurious glamping in glorious North Devon

Bella, Bugsie and the kids left London 8 years ago to set up their perfect glamping location, and Longlands is the result. They had some very specific requirements when searching for their ideal location: they wanted it to be conveniently close to the sea (to be able to sneak in a lunchtime surf), have breathtaking views and plenty of space to create the ultimate rural retreat. And this delightful destination on the western border of Exmoor, 5 minutes from the coastal village of Combe Martin, pretty much ticks all the boxes. Five thoughtfully positioned safari tents (each sleeping 6) come furnished with vintage leather sofas, luxurious linen and a fully equipped kitchen with a wood-burning stove, keeping the cosy interior warm in all weathers while also providing a means of cooking. Not only that, each has its very own shower room with flushing loo and basin, plus a wide range of natural aromatherapy products.

After spending a memorable day exploring North Devon and its many delights (Exmoor in one direction and the fabulous beaches of Woolacombe and Croyde in the other), Longlands is a comforting enclave to return to each night. Bella and Bugsie have done their hosting homework, pre-empting every need with the 'Longlands Larder', stocked with hard-to-resist, local produce (milk, jam, chutney and cheese) 24 hours a day. Guests can also cook using their private BBQ, and there is a beautiful hot tub on its own terrace, with a changing room and outdoor shower, and with views out across the valley and towards the sea and setting sun. Allow your days to float by effortlessly, while enjoying the simplicity of field living in a luxury canvas lodge.

DEVON Longlands Farm Coulsworthy Combe Martin
EX34 0PD 01271 882004 longlandsdevon.co.uk
HOW MUCH? Midweek breaks (Mon–Fri) from £525, weekends (Fri–Mon) from £545.

"We want our guests to return home refreshed and revived, having enjoyed amazing adventures, and with memories to cherish forever."

Bella Given, Longlands Glamping

What's nearby?

HUNTER'S INN There's something very special about this comfy old pub, situated deep amid the rolling wooded hills of Exmoor. It's a perfect place for a pint after walks in the Heddon Valley.

BROOMHILL SCULPTURE GARDEN There's a surprise at every turn in these hillside hotel gardens, filled with contemporary sculptures of all shapes, sizes and styles.

VALLEY OF THE ROCKS This fabled local beauty spot makes an easy but spectacular walk into Lynton/Lynmouth through a bizarre dry rocky valley, populated by goats.

